

Dylan Tarr

Education

Michigan State University/ B.A. in Editing, Publishing, and Professional Writing & English Literature
May 2017

Additional Coursework

Classes/ Copy editing, proofreading, writing for print and web publications, publication management, AP style, Chicago Style, literary theory and criticism, American and English literature, screen writing, InDesign, Illustrator, Photoshop, HTML, CSS

Experience

Freelance Writer/ City Pulse
May 2017-Current, Lansing, MI

Initially brought on as an intern, I was kept on as a freelance writer where I conceptualize, outline, write, revise, and interview subjects for pieces published in City Pulse, Lansing's alternative newspaper.

Contributor/ The Hard Times
April 2017-Current

Pitch, write, and create satirical mock AP style news stories for the nationally recognized punk news website The Hard Times.

Editorial, Research Assistant/ The Journal of Popular Culture
August 2016-December 2016, East Lansing, MI

Edited, fact-checked, and proofread submissions to The Journal of Popular Culture, the official publication of the Popular Culture Association published by Wiley Blackwell.

Editor, Staff Writer/ ing Magazine
August 2016-December 2016, East Lansing, MI

Wrote, edited, proofread, and created content for a community based, monthly arts and culture magazine.

The Better Health Store
August 2014-May 2016, Lansing MI

Worked cash register, cooked food to order, broke down sides of beef, lamb, chickens, and fish for sale, made sausage, cleaned work spaces and kitchen.